LINCOLN'S KIND HEARTEDNESS.

Here is a recollection of Abraham Lincoln, and heartedness which has never been published, that I am aware of, but will not be forgotten by the "boys in blue" who originally went to the war enrolled in the old Third Regiment of Vermont. The command was stationed for a while just beyond the chain bridge, in Virginia, opposite Washington, (early in the second year of the rebellion,) and among the privates was a young man of 20, who had been found one night asleep at his post of sentry. He was arrested, tried by court martial, convicted and ordered to be shot for this offense. The soldier had been out on picket duty on the night previous to that on which he was unlawfully caught sleeping at his post, and thus, by army regulations, he was exempt from being called to perform guard duty on the occasion referred to. But the comrade whose turn it was to serve was sick, and young P volunteered in the other's place, and fell in a doze, from weariness.

The adjutant of the regiment knew all the facts, and he obtained leave for a day and hurried to Washington, where he waited on President Lincoln, and begged him to interpose in P's behalf. He was delayed, however, and next day, at noon, the condemned man was marched to the field of execution. His grave had been dug, the regiment had been formed into a hollow square, the chaplain had finished his final prayer, and the file of soldiers had advanced in front of P, who stood, pale and trembling, beside his rude coffin, awaiting their shot, when an officer upon a horse came at a fierce gallop, making up the scene with a reprieve! The announcement was made in a loud voice by the rider, when the culprit fell to the earth senseless, as a wild shout of joy rang forth from the sturdy lungs of his thousand electrified companions-in-arms. The President gave the matter attention at his earliest moment of leisure, but had not reached the case until about the hour before the time set for execution. Then, summoning an aide, he dispatched him to the scene, ordering a stay of proceedings, while he telegraphed a similar order to army headquarters—which latter message did not reach the regiment until it would have been too late but for the service of the aide. The young man was afterward fully pardoned and restored to duty.

Mr. Lincoln took his carriage the next morning, and accompanied by Mrs. Lincoln, visited the headquarters of the Third Regiment. While there, he sat conversing with the Commander, and another soldier had just received a telegram from Vermont informing him that "his house had been burned the night previously and his child had been lost in the flames." He was anxious to obtain a furlough to visit his home and afflicted wife, but army rule would not permit. He applied to his company captain, obtained a printed blank, filled it hastily, and, rushing to Lincoln's presence, placed this and his dispatch in the President's, imploring him to approve. "Sign it!" exclaimed Mrs. Lincoln in an earnest tone, as she read it, and hurriedly glancing at the two documents, the kind-hearted commander-in-chief, with a pencil handed him by his wife, wrote quickly, "Approved—A. Lincoln," and sent the humble soldier on his way rejoicing. It was but a few weeks afterward that the President's "general order" was published and sent through the army of Virginia, putting a stop to the shooting of condemned Union soldiers "with the express sanction of the commander-in-chief" a humane act never to be forgotten.—Cor. Boston Traveller.

This excessive indulgence in any appetite is injurious, but it has long been a question whether the moderate use of tobacco in any of the customary forms is accompanied with deleterious effects. Here is an item on this head that can be taken for what it is worth: At Yale College each class is graded in divisions according to scholarship, the best scholar being the first, and so on down to the fourth, where they are rated "not too good," yet good enough to keep in the ranks. In the Junior Class it was found that only 10 out of 40 in the first division were addicted to smoking; 18 out of 37 in the second; 20 out of 27 in the third, and 23 out of 26 in the fourth. The proportion of smokers, it will be observed, increases in regular ratio with the falling off in scholarship. The inference is against the smokers, but it is not certain that there are other causes to account for the falling off in mental ability. It is not unusual for people to reform their vices as they grow older, and this might to some extent account for the advance in scholarship of the first division of the Yale Junior Class.

"Don't get out of anybody's way," advises Henry Ward Beecher. But, Mr. Beecher, when you recognize your landlord only half a block away and it is three days past rent day, and there are two cross streets, an alley and three four-story stairways with rear exits winking at you from the near side of the street, are we—is a man, that is, to go straight ahead and collide with the landlord? Oh, nonsense! what kind of talk is that to give a debt-laden people, with money at eight per cent, and your Summer clothes not paid for.—Burlington Hawkeye.

Grant's Daily Life at Galena.

General Grant's daily life at Galena is unostentatious and quiet. His residence, so surrounded by shrubbery that only the chimneys are visible at any distance, is situated in the low hills west of the Galena river, which divides the city into two very unequal sections, nearly all the business and nine-tenths of the inhabitants being on the east side. The forenoon is generally devoted to his correspondence, which is quite extensive, and to reading the newspapers. Along about 2 p. m. the General usually "moseys" across the bridge on foot, and strolls leisurely up the principal street, saluting his acquaintances in an easy way, and now and then stopping to converse with some one and inquire after the babies. He is pretty sure to drop into the Postoffice, the First National Bank and General W. R. Bowley's office for an informal chat, and half a dozen places are pointed out as his "favorite resorts." One of the latter is a small grocery-store kept by B. F. Felt, where the old stagers congregate, and sitting cross-legged on stools and dry goods boxes, sagely enunciate wisdom from whitened foreheads, their clay and root pipes. Here the conversation touches on war, mining, merchandising, horses, the crops, and old times. Not unfrequently a new corner broaches politics. Instantly, to all appearances, Grant's interest in the conversation ceases; or, to put it more properly, he is seemingly unobservant of all such remarks, taking no cognizance of them, and immediately breaks in with a war anecdote, a bit of experience he had abroad, an inquiry about neighbor Ryan's colts—anything to change the subject. Failing in this, he endures the bore in silence for a few moments and leisurely stalks out in search of more congenial quarters. Between 5 and 6 o'clock he slowly descends the bridge, crosses over, ascends the gentle slope, and is soon lost to view in the direction of his home. In the evening he seldom leaves his house. If he has callers, as he frequently has, he entertains them with accounts of his trip around the world, which are quite interesting, showing that he has been a close observer and has pretty thoroughly digested what he has seen. If there are no nocturnal visitors, the evening hours are devoted to reading and to correspondence.—Cor. Chicago Times.

Corn is of two kinds, vegetable and animal. Vegetable corn grows in rows; animal corn grows on toes. There are several kinds of corn—unicorn, capricorn, corn dodgers, field corn, and the corn which is the corn you most feel. It is said that the gophers like corn; but persons who have corns do not like to "go far" if they can help it. Corns have kernels, and some colonels have corns. Vegetable corns grow on ears, but animal corns grow on the feet, at the other end of the body. Another kind of corn is the acorn. This kind grows on oaks; but there is no hoax about the corn. The corn is a corn with an indefinite article indeed. Try it and see. Many a man when he has a corn wishes it was an acorn. Folks that have corns sometimes send for a doctor, and if the doctor himself is corned, he probably won't do so well as if he wasn't. The doctors say that corns are produced by tight boots and shoes, which is probably the reason why, when a man is tight, they say he is corned. If a farmer manages well he can get a good deal on the acre, but I know a farmer who has a corn that makes the biggest ache on his farm. The bigger the crops of vegetable corn a man raises the better he likes it; but the bigger the crop of animal corn, the better he does not like it.

THE WIDOW'S CONSOLATION.—An old lady who does not live a great many miles from Milwaukee is fashioned after that rare type of people who are always finding virtues in their fellow-creatures when nobody else can. The other day one died, hard, as the common report went, uncharitable, unkind to his family—but he was dead. Another positive and disagreeable quality which this man had was that he was forever prying into other people's business. The widow grieved; as a woman often does, when about to hide away what remains of bright young bridal dreams. Her charitable companion grew nervous. Her kind spirit smote her for neglecting to pour the comforting oil upon the bruised feelings of the once happy wife. Finally, she said: "There is much about it, my dear Mrs. ; your husband was a very spy man!"

The New York Graphic says: "A man's slippers are made for comfort, and a woman's to show her colored stockings." The whirling of time brings many changes. When we were a boy a woman's slippers were not made to show their colored stockings. They were made—but the subject is too painful.—Norristown Herald.

When a Boston young lady is asked whether she will go to hear a lecture on "Autozone or Peroxide of Hydrogen," or visit the opera, she impulsively replies: "O, to the lecture, by all means."—Norristown Herald.

In cultivating roses faded flowers should always be removed, since this checks the tendency to produce seeds and encourages new growth and fresh bloom.

Earning Your own Living

If your father is so situated that the care of his daughter is a burden upon slender resources, you ought to relieve him by working for yourself. Every woman should be able to support herself, if there is need for so doing. Hundreds would be very much happier if they did so when the need was pressing. We are so constituted that alternate periods of work and rest are beneficial to us. Idleness is the bane of existence. The veriest butterfly among girls would lead a gay life if she had something more to do than to flirt from flower to flower. I am quite sure that the hard worked, tired out shop-girl, who have so few hours for repose, are often happier, because more genuinely self-respecting, than are some indolent, dawdling young ladies, who kill time by reading silly novels, and whose chief aim seems to be the preservation from soil of their soft, useless hands. A few years ago, teaching and sewing were almost the only vocation open to educated and gently-bred women. Now all doors open at her light touch, and the lady—not less, but more a lady if she honorably works—has but to lay her fingers on what latch she pleases to choose. Work is not play, if she wishes to earn money, she must give skill, patience and unselfish diligence to her enterprise. The market is crowded, and only the best have a chance.

But the young woman who resolutely and cheerfully takes up a calling and who pursues it with steadfastness, has a good opportunity for success as her brother has in his field or profession. If it be her duty to work and earn her own livelihood, she need sacrifice no delicacy of sex nor lay aside any of her beautiful womanly modesty in doing so. She will also have a positive and not to be measured advantage if, in her self-supporting career, she can live at home. In the best boarding houses open to working-women there is much which is not home like.—Christian at Work.

GLYCERINE IN DIPHTHERIA.—According to Medizin Zeitung, of Vienna, Prof. Clar's success with the use of glycerine in diphtheria admits of no doubt. He first prescribes a gentle aperient, either in the form of a manna draft, or of a few grains of calomel, which last he holds to be powerful antiphlogistic remedy, and when properly used, of great value. Coincidentally he directs cold compresses or cloths to the neck and head, or even to the chest, carefully renovated according to the elevation or depression of the temperature, cold or iced water being at the same time given as a drink, and then commences at once the use of iron-glycerine, which consists of two ounces of anhydrous glycerine and 20 drops of the liquor sesquichloride of iron. Of this mixture, half a teaspoonful is given every half hour, throughout the day and night. As soon as the symptoms appear to be mitigated, the quantity is diminished to a teaspoonful every second hour, and in the intermediate period, a mixture composed of glycerine two ounces, borax two grains, is similarly given by a teaspoonful at a time. The iron-glycerine is progressively given at longer periods, and is gradually replaced by the borax-glycerine.

A DINNER WITH THE QUEEN.—Regarded from a gastronomic point of view, it appears that there is nothing particularly desirable in dining with the Queen, although it is a privilege much coveted by ambitious men. A distinguished divine, who occasionally preaches at Windsor, and dines and sleeps there afterward, said the other that the dinner was a remarkably satisfactory affair to a hungry man. It is not considered etiquette to continue eating of any particular course after the Queen has partaken of it to her satisfaction, and as her Majesty eats very little the courses are hurried over. After dinner there is hardly time to take even one glass of wine before coffee is brought in. The Queen does not put her cup on the table, but sips a little as the servant holds it on the silver. Then her majesty rises, and of course the guests all rise and stand back from the table. The Queen then makes the round of the room, stopping to talk for a few minutes to any one of the guests whom she may delight to honor, and then goes out, leaving the guests to amuse themselves as they like for the evening.—Hour.

A sagacious Philadelphia house-owner refuses to let his buildings to merchants who don't advertise. He says that the only way to collect his rent is to sell them out, and even then their stocks are too old and shelt-worn to pay for the trouble.

The papers are always ridiculing the man who parts his hair in the middle. Yet that class of men never read the papers at all, but glean all their information from the wrappers around packages of cough drops.

Always manage to live so as to leave something at death. A Chicago man of ninety-eight years married the other day because he thought it was far better to have a widow than nothing.

Colorado is spoken of as a place where an acre of land can be bought for will cost $18 64 to go to the dead and registered.

THE CONVENTION.

The Republican National Convention assembled in Chicago on Wednesday and organized by the appointment of Hon. George F. Hoar, President, and the usual committees on credentials, permanent officers and platform. The Committee on Permanent Officers subsequently reported in favor of Mr. Hoar as permanent President. The anti-Grant men had control of the organization and the unit rule was broken, which effectually squelched the third-term scheme, which has been unpopular with the masses of the Republican party, but gained undue prominence through such men as Conkling, and various office holders throughout the country. The anti-Grant men in the Convention have shown their friendship for the great General by refusing him a nomination for a third-term. The latest dispatches show that James G. Blaine is gaining strength and will probably receive the nomination, although combinations may be formed to defeat the well known wishes of the Republicans in the Republican States, for there can be no question as to Blaine being the choice of a great majority of his party. The nominations will probably be made to-day.

Stockton and Bodie.

But Stockton has always cast an eager eye outward towards the trade of the South and East. To this end she planned in past years several important railway connections, which owing to the conflicting plans and interest of the Central and Southern Pacific, were defeated. She is now contemplating a plan for another railway intended to penetrate the counties of Calaveras and Tuolumne, tap the vast sugar-pine timber belt of the Sierras, the multitudinous mines of Bodie, and its surroundings, and form a connection with the narrow-gauge system of the State of Nevada. The Constitution protects her taxpayers against subsidy, and it is well that it does. For if the company which is making overtures to the merchants of Stockton to raise the money to pay for the preliminary survey of the route is not rich enough to construct and operate the road without local subsidy, it had better not be built. We are of opinion, however, that the company is rich, and that it means business. A narrow-gauge railway from Stockton to Bodie, say 125 miles, ought not to cost more than $15,000 per mile, or, in the aggregate, $2,000,000—at 16¢ a foot, $2,000,000—if constructed on a cash basis and by skilled railway men. Its traffic in a few years, unless Bodie and its surroundings are much overrated, would certainly much exceed the traffic of the Virginia and Reno line. It would tap a mineral region in Nevada, extending over 30,000 square miles, which has for years past been constantly improving, and its way trade through the lumber and timber belt of the Sierra would become immense. It would reach the dry bones of Calaveras and Tuolumne, and, altogether, its advantages to Stockton would be such as to justify the expectation of her citizens that, by the next decade, she will take rank as the third, is not the second, city of the State.—S. F. Chronicle.

In THOMAS.—The people of Kern county—if the papers of that section have told the truth—have had a tough set of officers; and now comes the news that there has been a wholesale indictment of the old officers of that county. Those in the clutches of the law are: B. B. Dornell, late Assessor; G. A. Rotaford, ex-Sheriff and Tax Collector; F. W. Craig, ex-Auditor; A. G. Lightner, present County Clerk; and J. Fountain, ex-Deputy Sheriff and Tax Collector. It is rumored that others will be arrested.

Ex-Sheriff Swift, of Ormsby county, owner of the Hot Springs baths near Carson, is of the opinion that there will not be a blade of grass or a green thing in the vicinity of Carson in a short time on account of the grasshoppers. Swift has between 2,500 and 3,000 Angora goats of thoroughbred and graded stock roaming about the hills of his large sagebrush ranch.

Information is received of the death of ex-Controller D. B. Connelly, the Tweed Ring fugitive. It is stated that he died at Marseilles, France, Sunday, after a surgical operation.

It is now reported that Randall and Tilden have fallen out, and that Randall is laying pipe for the Democratic nomination for President.

A PERMANENT CAMP.

Never in the history of Bodie has the mining outlook been so flattering as it is at this writing. Those who a few months ago were "croaking" and could not be made to believe that there was any mineral of any amount outside of or south of the Standard and Bodie mines, have been compelled to acknowledge their error, the great developments in the Balders, South Bulwer, Addenda, Oro, Noonday, Maryland Con, Queen Bee and Boston Con., having shown very conclusively that our great mineral belt is continuous for at least two miles—and how much further south it may extend must be ascertained by further explorations. As our mines appreciate in worth, the stock market exhibits a marked depreciation in the stock of our best ones—in fact, the better the mine, the lower the stock goes, and to-day the best mines here hardly command as high prices as the veriest "wild cat" of other districts; but time makes all things right, and Bodie stocks will yet be "away up," and our mines the most promising, for constant dividends, of any in the world. There has been no reckless expenditure of money in the development of the mines now being worked in this district. On the contrary, the companies have been, in too many instances, too economical in their management, as in the matter of machinery, for instance, many having plodded along with inadequate appliances for sinking, rather than levy assessments for the purchase of heavier machinery. Our Superintendents are, to a man, well fitted for the positions they occupy, and all are looking to the interests of their stockholders and placing every dollar of company money where it will do the most toward the development of the property in their charge. What with the "bores" Standard, Bodie, Bulwer, Oro, and Noonday, soon to be followed by the Mono, South Bulwer, Balders, Tioga, Addenda, Maryland, University, Queen Bee and Boston Con.—saying nothing of the Bechtel, McClinton, Jupiter and Con Pacific as they attain depth Bodie bids fair to outrank the famous Comstock in its most palmy days, and that before many months roll by—in truth before another New Year is welcomed.

GOODMAN MINING COMPANY.—An exciting meeting of the shareholders of the Goodman Mining Company was held Tuesday, J. H. Thompson called the meeting to order, and C. L. Waller was made President. F. Tagliabue of the opposition party came in at this juncture, and as President of the company, demanded the right to preside. A call of the roll was demanded, and Mr. Tagliabue told the Secretary not to call it and to take the books into another room, but the stockholders would not allow the books to be removed. The old President and Secretary then retired, and, with their followers, called a meeting, but adjourned sine die because a majority of the stock was not represented. The Sherwood party elected as Directors Robert Sherwood, J. H. Thompson, John W. Harker, F. G. Margelson and J. McKenzie. At a subsequent meeting Robert Sherwood was elected President and A. F. Mahu, Secretary. The new regime hold possession of the books and papers. Capt. Buckley has been reelected Superintendent.

THE CHRONICLE

BODIE, JUNE 8, 1880.

The CHRONICLE Office is on the second floor of "Goodson's Building," east side of Main street, between Standard Avenue and Green street.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

AN INDIGNANT PEOPLE.—Our citizens were highly excited and indignant yesterday morning, when it was discovered that Standard Avenue had been "jumped" and fenced in from the main street front to as far back as the engine house, and a small building erected in the center. It was soon ascertained that Dr. Blackwood and some others had committed this outrage on the public. At about 11 o'clock the fire bell rang an alarm, which brought out our people en masse and a meeting was immediately held at the engine house. Harvey Boone, of Boone & Wright, stated the object of the meeting, to act on the matter of the street obstruction, and nominated T. A. Stephens for Chairman. Mr. Stephens was elected, and J. W. Wright, of Boone & Wright, was appointed Secretary. The Chairman stated that legal steps could be taken to remove the obstruction, but the meeting was not disposed to wait for the law to remove it, and a motion was made to notify the parties erecting the obstruction to remove it within ten minutes, and Mr. McVane was appointed a Committee of one to notify them of the sense of the people. Mr. McVane waited on Dr. Blackwood and notified him, but that gentleman gave him no answer, whether he would remove it or not, and he so reported to the meeting. A motion was then made that the building and fencing be removed instantly. The motion was adopted with enthusiasm and a rush made for the inclosure, which was soon thrown open again to public travel, amid the cheers of the hundreds assembled. The hooks of the Hook & Ladder Co. were put on the building, which was quickly torn down and the lumber thrown into a cart and hauled off. Three cheers were then given, and the crowd started for the office of Dr. Blackwood in the Mono House, where he was greeted with groans. And thus an outrage on the rights of the people of Bodie was quickly resented by them. Standard Avenue has been a county road and public thoroughfare for the past fifteen years, and no one up to Thursday night has had the "check" to even think of locating it as a town lot, and we think the public feeling as shown yesterday morning, will effectually deter others from attempting a like outrage.

DECORATION DAY.—Decoration Day—Sunday last—was observed here by the display of flags at half-mast on Miners' Union Hall, and business houses and hotels; works. About ten o'clock about fifty of those engaged in the late war marched to the cemetery and decorated with flowers the graves of John Goff and G. W. Sackett, of the Union Army, and Dr. Joseph Levesque of the Confederate. The flowers were furnished by Mrs. Welch, wife of our worthy County Assessor. After the comrades returned from the cemetery a meeting was held at Justice Peterson's office, and an organization formed of those who took part in the late war both in the Union and Confederate Armies. A large number signed the roll, and we doubt not the organization will be a large one, as there are a great many here who were in either the Federal or Confederate armies, and who will undoubtedly be glad to join such an association.

ALL SERENE.—On Monday we had the pleasure of a call from Col. Dunn, President of the Maryland Con. Mr. Brown, President of the University, and Superintendent Moore, of the University, who imparted the pleasing news that all the differences between the two companies represented by these gentlemen had been amicably arranged, and that its work in both mines would be prosecuted as heretofore. We are glad for these companies and the District that this matter, which at one time looked serious, has been arranged to the satisfaction of those most interested. As Col. Dunn truly says: "There is enough for all in Queen Bee hill" without having any trouble between companies.

Bullion Shipments.—We are indebted to Major Allen, agent of Wells Fargo & Co., for the following statement of the shipment of bullion from Bodie for the month of May:

Bullion	$45,375.95
Bodie Con.	23,339.99
Bullion Con.	15,531.99
Standard Con.	130,247.15
Sundries	1,814.85
Total	$234,977.97

DIVIDENDS.—The Standard Con. will pay another 75-cent dividend on the 12th. The Spaulding Mining Company have declared a stock dividend of 3 shares of Republic stock for every 5 shares of Spaulding stock, deliverable on and after the 10th instant.

SCHOOL Census.—The census of our school children will probably foot up about 500—an increase of nearly one hundred per cent. since the last census.

WATCHES AND JEWELRY.—For the best of watches and jewelry go to L. Hollander, the leading Jeweler of Bodie, where you will find the best at low prices.

New Postoffice.—A postoffice has been established at Ficks, in the Ficks District, Mono county, and Michael King appointed Postmaster.

NOTARY PUBLIC.—Governor Perkins has appointed W. G. Holmes a Notary Public for Mono county, to reside at Bodie.

On motion the meeting was adjourned to meet at half-past seven p. m. at the parlor of the Allen House.

The Board was called to order pursuant to adjournment, present W. T. Elliott, B. R. Foss, Mrs. Selden Hetzel and Mrs. H. M. Hays.

The subject of discussion being the change of text books. After discussion it was proposed to change the text books. Readers, Grammar, and Copy Books.

On motion the Secretary was instructed to publish a notice of the time of the meeting of the Co. Board of Examination, the studies adopted by them, and the percentage required.

Motioned and passed that the Secretary be authorized to call a special meeting of the Board of Education at any time business should warrant the same.

On motion the Board adjourned.

A. M. HAYS, Secretary.

RETURNED.—On Sunday last Miss Jane Sumner returned from Washington College, Alameda county, also John D. Murphy, Alfred L. Lewis and Frank Hunnawell, of this town, and Gay E. Porter, of Bodie, returned from the Berkeley Gymnasium University. The terms commence August 1st, at which time they will return to their studies, Hunnawell going to the State University.

SONORA PASS.—On Tuesday last four men arrived over the Sonora Pass. They report that the snow belt on the western slope extends nine miles to Cow Creek; thence there is bare ground for ten miles to the summit; thence the belt is fourteen miles on the eastern slope. They say the drifts on the road are in many instances seventy feet deep (?). They were lost three days.

BIG BEAR.—On Monday last an immense grizzly was seen on the Antelope Road, between Warm Springs and Mack's Station, passing within one hundred feet of the latter house. It is said to have been as large as a cow, and the weight is estimated to have been 1600 pounds. Its tracks were extraordinary large.

WARM SPRINGS.—On Wednesday last we sported in the swimming bath at this delightful resort. As we emerged from it, and looked down upon its pure and clear water, we thought, how different it would have been had the scallwags of the Bodie papers wallowed in it. Their turpitude would discolor the West Walker River.

BARNETT'S HOTEL.—This hotel, at Coleville, is being rapidly finished in the best of style for the accommodation of the traveling public. The rooms are large and airy; the table well-spread, and the surroundings pleasant. Water is being introduced into the house. We commend it to the public. See advertisement under "New To-Day."

LOSS OF SHEEP.—On Sunday night last at the Devil's Gate, near Warm Springs, a wild animal—supposed to have been the work of the grizzly seen on Monday morning—killed some sheep from the band bound for Bodie.

CENSUS.—W. A. Mather and J. F. Norman, Federal Census Enumerators for Bodie Township, and W. C. Haight for Bridgeport and Antelope Townships, are busy taking the census. The fine for refusing to answer is $100.

THE WEATHER.—The weather is as fine as one could wish to have, and vegetation is coming forward handsomely, and our farmers are happy and content, anticipating good crops and a remunerative market in Bodie and Lunty.

FOURTH OF JULY.—A grand picnic and ball are to be given at the "Willows" on the Big Meadows and Bodie toll road, on July 6th. Mr. Walters promises to make them enjoyable.

TERMS.—On Saturday last the Board of Education drew for terms. Mrs. Selden Hetzel and B. R. Foss drew for the long terms, and W. T. Elliott and Mrs. A. H. Greely the short.

LOST.—Four men are at Rickley's Station, who came over the Sonora Pass for supplies for the shingle mill on the western slope. Attempting to return, they were lost 2 days and had to come back.

ANTelope ROAD.—On Tuesday last Dr. Goodnow completed the repairs on this road and it is now in first-rate condition for travel. There is no better or easier grade than on this road.

TEACHERS' EXAMINATION.—The Board of Education will examine all who wish to become teachers in the public school of Mono County, on the 23rd, 24th, 25th and 26th instant. See notice in another column.

THE COURT.—The Superior Court, Hon. Marcus T. Wiggins, Judge, presiding, will meet on Monday next and set the Calendar, after which we may look for its speedy clearance.

DISCHARGED.—The Jury called for this term of the Superior Court was discharged on Monday last by consent of parties, as all cases will be left to the judgment of Judge Wiggins.

NEW QUARTERS.—County Clerk Miller has moved the record department into the addition lately made to the Court House. This is pleasant for all concerned.

BOOMING.—The West Walker River is "booming" through Antelope Valley, on sequence upon the melting of the immense amount of snow on the mountains.

SONORA STAGE.—The Sonora and Bodie Stage Company intends to commence running its stages on the 8th day of July next—five weeks later than last year.

DEPUTY SHERIFF.—James M. Massey has been appointed Under Sheriff, and will reside here.

CONFERENCE.—The Quarterly Meeting of the M. E. Church will commence here to-day.

PERSONAL.—Superior Judge R. M. Briggs departed on Sunday last for Jackson on a visit to his family.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C. May 14th, 1880.

Senator Morgan's bill, providing for the electoral count, is now before the Senate, and Senator Morgan has made a lengthy speech in favor of it. This bill is wholly in the interest of the Democratic majority in the two Houses, and enables them to manipulate returns, to suit party needs, and actually enables them to reject the vote of a State or elector in a State, by a simple vote of the majority; whether such action be just or not there is no remedy provided. In view of the facts it becomes a question, and a serious one too, is the will of the people to be respected? Should the election go Republican by a small majority, will not the Democrats by the arrangements they are now perfecting find some means to defeat the choice of the people as they came near doing in 1876? These things demand of our leaders in Congress serious attention, and a thorough exposure of all the methods to be used by the Democrats in their President-stealing scheme.

The last of the appropriation bills will be reported to the House on Tuesday, and will be pushed through without delay. The Senate has passed the Bayard Marshal bill, and the House will act upon it this week. The Senate has also passed, with amendments, the Legislative bill.

An attempt will be made in the House to-day to tack the proposed expenditures for public building on the Sundry Civil appropriation bill. It will probably fail.

Senator Davis the "Independent party of Illinois," has rushed into print with his platform as a Presidential candidate. It is the general impression that he is willing to take any nomination that may come to him without regard to party affiliation. To the impartial mind he appears more anxious for Presidential honors without much solid hope to justify his expectation.

William E. Chandler sends out a prediction that Senator Blaine will have 306 votes on the first ballot at Chicago, and be nominated on the second ballot. This is based upon the supposition that he obtains nearly 15 votes from New York and 18 from Pennsylvania, although Republicans from these States say he will secure more, and more from Ohio or Illinois although it is claimed that the Convention will seat the 14 Blaine and six Washburn contestants from Illinois.

One Senator told me last night that they would adjourn in one week, but another said it was an impossibility. The business is being pushed as fast as possible, and it looks as though the early adjournment would succeed.

THE CHRONICLE.

Extravagance in New York Dress.

There is every evidence of sudden wealth in New York, reminding one of the days of 1865-6. Particularly during the present season has the living expenses of rich and poor increased, and never since or hardly before the panic of 1873, has such reckless extravagance prevailed.

"I have been dressmaking for twenty years, but never did I put scissors into so much rich material or lay eyes on such magnificent trimmings," said a fashionable modiste a few days ago, and others in the same business report a like experience. In fact, such goods were never before imported. Some of the passementerie trimmings of cashmere and rainbow beads range in prices as high as $35 and $40 a yard, with fringes to match in richness. It really seems as if there were a possible conspiracy between the dressmaker and importer to make up the quality of the costume for the less quantity of material and trimmings required by the present fashions. Our leading houses must bear the blame of bringing these temptations before the American ladies. One can but wonder if the profit on these higher-priced goods is enough to compensate for the responsibility of leading our nation into such extravagance, and vanishing into thin air the economic virtues the hardships of the last few years had forced us to learn. It is well-known that the richest manufacturers and finest specimens of French skill were brought to America. Said a lately returned tourist: "It is almost impossible to find a really handsome bonnet in Paris—the best are all sent to America; and as for dressmaking, if you want it done cheaply, never go to a modiste who has much American patronage, for the price will be ruinous." Find a modiste mantua-maker up two or three flights of stairs who can speak no English and has only French customers, and you will get the best of styles at a very low rate. I have a treasure of a little Josephine whose taste is exquisite, and whose bills only average $6 a costume. The most elaborate ball dress was made over $10, and lately she has even reduced her prices. If I send her to many of my American friends, the next change will be in the opposite direction.—New York Letter.

JOHN BILLINGS ON MARRIAGE.—By all means, do not get married, if you have a fair show. Don't stand shivering on the bank, but pitch in and stick your head under the water. There isn't any more trick in getting married than there is in getting out. Many a man has stood on the shore until the river run out. Don't expect to marry an angel, they have been all picked up long ago. Remember, Joe, you ain't a saint yourself. Don't marry for beauty exclusively; beauty is like ice, awfully slippery and thaws awfully easy. Don't marry for love, neither; love is like a cooking-stove, for nothing when the fuel gives out. But for the mixture be somewhat becomingly dressed, with about two hundred and fifty dollars in her pocket, a good speller, handy and neat in her house, plenty of good sense, full constitution and by-laws, small feet, a light step; add to this sound teeth and a warm heart. The mixture will keep in any climate and will not evaporate. Don't marry for pedigree unless it's backed by bank-notes. A family with nothing but pedigree generally lacks sense.

SEVERE DISEASES.—A very large amount of the discomfort, lassitude, depression and actual sickness which prevails in the spring can be avoided or wholly avoided by the exercise of a little reflection and self-denial. One of the main objects of eating in winter time is to keep warm, and to that end, provident nature gives a vigorous appetite in cold weather, but it is warm weather approaches we eat with the appetite of winter, the system not having time to adapt the appetite to the temperature, mischief will follow as inevitably as if a locomotive is diminished in speed one-half while the fires are kept burning as fiercely as when it was moving at the utmost allowed rapidity. A prompt diminution at each meal of one-third of the amount eaten in winter, beginning before April in the latitude of New York, and earlier further south, would diminish spring diseases to an incalculable extent.—Ex.

It would successfully start the report that ice cream spoiled the complexion and made women bloated; it would be thousands of dollars in the pockets of our poor, but love-stricken young men.—Philadelphia Chronicle-Herald.

A boy with a patch on his knee can't be hired to go on an errand to the next house, but he will follow a band wagon all over town and never realize that he isn't dressed in broadcloth.

All the toys used to come from Europe. Now American jumping-jacks and wooden horses are sold in every country where the children don't know to play with their big toys.

Dr. J. C. Murphy says that less than one-third of the people in this country would be a great help toward making a nation.

The experienced married man not only shakes the carpet, but he also "shakes" all other household cleaning, by going to a neighboring city for a week on "business."

Bishop Bedell remarks that if ministers would only speak the truth in funeral sermons, the demand for such discourses would rapidly decrease.

The duty on paper to pay your subscriptions promptly.

SELF-PROTECTING HEIR.—A man out west has invented a device to prevent marksmen from palming off eggs. The invention is thus described: He proposes to arrange a rubber stamp in the nest of every hen, with a movable date. This stamp is arranged with a pad which is saturated with indelible ink. When the hen lays an egg, as is well known, she kicks slightly with her hind leg. An electric disk is arranged so that her foot touches it, when the stamp turns over on to the ink pad and then revolves, stamping the date on the egg. The hen then goes on about her business, the farmer's hired girl removes the egg; replaces the stamp, which is ready for another. On each evening, after the hens have retired to their downy roost with the roosters, the date of the stamp is changed to the following day, and the good work goes on. In this way there can be no cheating. You go to the groceryman and ask for fresh eggs, and the groceryman says he has some eggs of the vintage of March 1, 1880, for instance. You look at them, and there are the figures, which can not lie. With this method it is an object for the man to get rid of his eggs, knowing that to-morrow may be too late.
